Stevenson's Widow Talks of Samoan Affairs.

Warm Sympathizer With the Islanders Scores Two Nations and Justice Chambers,

LONDON, May 2.-Robert Louis Steenson's widow has written a letter to the Westminster Gazette from Func'ial Madeira, on the bombardment of Samoan villages by British and American

Mrs. Stevenson says: "President McKinley allowed no firing on Cuban towns unless they gave active cause of offense, and Commodore Watson wa ordered not to attack undefended Spanish cities. Does the President keep his humanity for civilized countries

Mrs. Stevenson declares that the Samoan villages are inhabited in time of war by non-combatants, who have to choose between the saells of the war ships and "taking to the bush." Under such conditions, she says, delicate women can hardly exist, while children

Mrs. Stevenson's letter concludes as follows: "Chief Justice Chambers has been represented as saying in a lefter to his brother, "I'never was happier. He must be a person singularly devoid of imagination if he over pictured to himself the scenes being enacted in the bombardment of those villages; the exodus of panic-stricken people rushing hither and thither; shells bursting everywhere, the cries of bedridden and hapless wounded people burning alivin their blazing houses; women in the pangs of childbirth, mangled children crawling on the sands, the sea before them and the bush behind them. And we read that the woods also were shelled. Who is to be held accountable for these deeds that disgrace both England and America?"

BOOK-BINDING COLORS.

A bookseller has been telling Literature that the color of the binding has a book. Red books sell. The great mass of bookbuyers, of course excluding, a distance it looks like an ordinary the few who really know something flower bed, but on close inspection noabout books, judge by appearances. ne could mistake it for anything other 5215 0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0 Drab and gray and brown books are than what it is.

not inviting to look upon, and they do not sell easily. Green makes a better HOME showing and books in blue will generally find a buyer, but red books have always the best sales. Perhaps, after all, it is not a bad plan when you know The Only First Class American nothing of the book you are buying to buy it because of its color. Color is always essentially suggestive. Red is bright, warm and good to look upon, and it is well that the binding of books CAFE open from in drab should be discouraged.

FLOWER CLOCK.

The Opening and Closing of the Flow ers Tells the Time of Day.

The phenomenon of certain species of flowers opening and closing at particular hours has been utilized by an Ohio landscape gardener to add unigue decoration to the grounds of John D. Rockefeller's country seat at Tarrytown. It consists of a flower bed which can be used as a clock. The bed is circular and divided into twelve parts. Each part contains a figure composed of a flower which opens or closes at the corresponding hour. Thus the 2 space is occupied by a II made of hawkseed, which closes at 2 P. M. precisely. The hands, of course, are stationary and merely ornamental They are composed of the common yellow da delion, which opens at 5:30 A. M. and closes at 8:30 P. M. They points to arrangements of flowers representing these figures.

There has been no difficulty in finding flowers to suit the various hours and in some cases the figure has been made up of more than one flower. Among those that have been used are the snow thistle, that closes at 1 P. M; the sow thistle, that opens at 5 A. M. and begin to close at 11, but does not fully close until noon; the yellow goat's beard, which opens at 4 A. M. and closes at 4 P. M. with such accu- | toa. racy that in some of the poorer districts of Scotland-where there are no clocke-the children are dismissed from school by it: the blue chicory, which opens at 4 A. M., turns white at sunrise and closes at noon; the morning glory, pnppy, waterlily, nimpernal, and marigold opening at 5 A. M., 7 A. M., 8 A. M., and 9 A. M., respectively; the star of Bethlehem, which closes at 11; passion flower, which opens at noon, the beauty of the night, which opens at 5 P. M., the evening primrose, which opens at 6; he white lychnis, opening a great deal to do with the success of at 6, and the blue convolvulus at 2 A.M.

This clock is so arranged that from
